TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

I have been growing Gerberas and Roses for well over 20 years. The Gerberas are the large double ones from North Queensland. Around three months ago I was watching the program EXTRA on Channel 9 and were talking about a product of which I did not know about, to deal with enhancing plants in the garden. The product known as Maidenwell Diatomite. I purchased the product at a local nursery and mixed the product with my garden soil, in the garden in which my Gerberas are, and also spread a thin layer on top of the soil.

I had amazing results within six weeks of putting the Maidenwell Diatomite on to the soil. In all the years I have been growing Gerberas I have never experienced the way that the Gerberas have come on. The flowers and the green leaves are much larger than they have ever been and have never looked as healthy as they are now. I also have two dwarf fruit trees in large pots and had them planted in potting mix, one of the trees was slowly dying and I wondered why. I cut off the dead parts of the tree and threw the old potting mix away. I mixed half potting mix and half Maidenwell Diatomite (medium grade 2mm-7mm) and re-potted both trees and at this time they have never looked better and disease free.

I have also put the product around my Roses and are also doing well, and I must not forget our Orchids in pots in (coarse grade 7mm-15mm) Maidenwell Diatomite.

Both my wife and I recommend this product to any potential grower, and would give the product ten out of ten.

Thanking you,

Ray & Ursula Jordan
